

Preface

This volume contains a selection of the papers presented at the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Linguistic Society of the Netherlands, held in Utrecht on January 16, 1993. The aim of the annual meeting is to provide members of the society with an opportunity to report on their work in progress. At this year's meeting 66 papers were presented.

The 17 papers selected for publication in this volume present research in different fields of linguistics in the Netherlands. We thank a large number of colleagues who helped us referee the papers submitted for this volume. Thanks must also go to Peter Ackema and Hein Nieuwhof for their help in preparing the camera-ready manuscript.
